Protect Yourself & Your Friends From Sex Trafficking

HAVE YOU EVER...

- ...Accepted a friend request from someone you didn't know?
- ...Checked in online when out with your friends?
- ...Given a friend the password to your social media profiles?
- ...Let someone use your phone when you weren't there?

STOP! ↑ These unsafe practices put you more at risk of becoming a target. Stay alert and practice these phone and internet safety tips. ↓

- Check your privacy settings on your online platforms to know who can view your personal information and what you post.
- Check your phone settings to make sure that it is not automatically revealing your location or other private information.
- Know who your friends are friends with on their social media platforms, because those connections can see anything that you post to your friends' platforms or tag your friends in.
- Do not forward inappropriate messages that are sent to you. If you forward them, then you could be legally charged.

HOW TO REPORT CYBERBULLYING

1. Don't respond or forward the messages.
2. Keep the evidence and record the dates and times.
3. Block the individual.
4. Review the "Terms and Conditions" section of the online platform that you are using and then follow their procedure for reporting cyberbullying.

Whenever anything raises concern or makes you feel uncomfortable, identify a parent or trusted adult that you can talk to and report it.
